

CORNWALL WILDLIFE TRUST

Cornwall Wildlife Trust's own St. Georges Island off Looe in southern Cornwall are carrying out works to the water system on the island including the installation of a 2,000 gallon water tank along with other pumping and water treatment equipment supplied by Amos Pumps of Bodmin. Only having a small boat did not give the trust a problem in getting across to the island, it's surprising what you can do with a bit of rope.

Having had this photograph sent to us, we thought it was an ideal opportunity to put a caption to it. Several suggestions were raised and only a few are listed below, if you have an idea for one please don't be shy, send them to me and the best ones will be used on a rota basis.

“New Cornish Minesweeper”

“Which one of Amos's salespersons sold this boat a new fuel tank?”

“ Amos Pumps staff day out, everyone 's chipped in for the keg of beer!! ”

“ The M.D. is moving his money to an offshore account ”

“St. Georges Island has splashed out on a new cruise ship, it even has its own swimming pod.”
